MIDTERM REPORT CARD REFLECTION

The midterm report card is one of the most important for you because colleges, trade schools, and employers will be looking mostly at your grades from this year when they make decisions. This year's grades the ones that will be ready for transcripts and most available to you next year. Also, this is when your average for the year becomes firmly high enough for Open Campus, or begins to dip too low to recover for Open Campus next September.

Also, this back on your plans for after high school, what grades do you need to be getting now to make those plans a reality?

Take a moment to reflect on where you want your grade to be when you finish midterm exams and why Be specific: what can you gain from doing well, what can you miss out on? How close to your goals or farm your goals are you?
